

SAMSUNG “SOLVE FOR TOMORROW” 2020-2021 EDUCATION CONTEST SCHOOL LIABILITY AND PUBLICITY RELEASE

One of your teachers has been selected as a Semi-finalist in the Samsung "Solve for Tomorrow" 2020-2021 Education Contest ("Contest"). Solve for Tomorrow is helping to address a key academic challenge in our country: to increase the pursuit of Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) education. We are looking to foster interest in these subjects among students and illustrate the practical impact applying these subjects can have. Samsung will give away more than $2,000,000 in technology, classroom supplies, and other contest prizes to schools this year through Solve for Tomorrow.

For Phase Two of the Contest your teacher will produce one (1) video of up to three minutes in length, demonstrating how STEM can be applied to help improve their local community. We are encouraging teachers to introduce this topic into their lesson plan and to involve their students. As such, we anticipate that the submission may contain video of your students, your school, your classrooms and other school facilities. We have provided your teacher with Parental Permission/Release forms to be signed by the parent of each student prior to their participation in the project. Additionally, we ask that before your teacher submits a video, you read this entire liability and publicity release form and if you consent to your school's participation, return a completed and signed copy to your teacher.
