FAQs

I'm clicking the early access link and it's not working, help! Or, my friend received an offer for early access, so why didn't I, can I have early access?

Early Access is a private offer for a limited group of customers. We are testing new functionality, and we hope to open this to more users in the future. The Samsung Fall Promotions Week event is live for all customers on May 15th, and you can take advantage of deals at that time.

We are also more than happy to build a cart for you now so you can access the Early Access offers or direct you to the Samsung shop app so you can see the latest and greatest deals yourself.

I missed a Flash Deal or a Deal of the Day, can I still get the offer? Or, I forgot to add an item to my order and the deal is no longer available, can I still get the offer?

I appreciate your interest with our ongoing promotions. However, the offer was limited-supply only and has ended. I can check to see what other deals are available, and I'd be more than happy to help build a cart for you so you can take advantage of other exclusive promotions for the Samsung Fall Promotion Event!

What to Say?

Note: Once the "BUY NOW" button on the website is greyed out, the product is no longer in stock, and we will not be able to price match Flash Deals. The only exception is if the customer had contacted us during the time the promotion was live and was unable to avail the promotion due to a technical issue.

I bought a product that is now on sale, can you give me the same price?

What to Say?

Let me check your order and the deal you are referring to and see what we can do.

We can match the lower price found on Samsung.com or the Shop Samsung App after it is ordered and up to the 15th day of delivery (last day to return).
